DETAILED ACTION

CLAIMS PRESENTED

Claims 1-17 are presented.

Other than claims 6, 11, all other claims are rejected.

The amendment stated that the use of the user's computer is not taught by prior art. This is factually wrong. The use of a user's computer is inherent in the art (especially since the days of personal computer and client/server systems – which provide computing and storage in the user's computer and not just in a mainframe). Applicant is requested to explain further.

CLAIM REJECTIONS

The cited prior art teaches as noted in the previous Office Action. As noted in the previous paragraphs of this Office Action, the newly recited features of the claims are inherent in the art.

Thus, the claims are rejected under the same bases as in the previous Office Action. See previous Office Action for details.

Conclusion

The art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The art disclosed general background.
